COFFEY’S KEYNOTES
Message from the DAS of ODI

It is with great pride that I announce that VA was ranked as one of the top five of 30 agencies responding in the 2010 DiversityInc Top Federal Agencies for Diversity! VA ranked second among agencies with more than 100,000 employees. The results were unveiled March 10 at a two-day event in Washington, DC by DiversityInc, recognized as the leading publication on diversity and business. This is the second year that Federal agencies were asked to participate and the first time VA applied. DiversityInc’s Federal-agency survey was sent to more than 500 agencies and focused on four key areas: Leadership Commitment, Human Capital, Communications and Supplier Diversity. For more information about VA’s participation in the 2010 DiversityInc Top Federal Agencies for Diversity, contact the Office of Diversity and Inclusion (ODI) at (202) 461-4131, or e-mail ODI at <odi@va.gov>. Although VA has been publicly recognized as a diversity leader, there is much more work to be done. I charge you, our VA readers, to be more visible champions of diversity and inclusion so we can hold onto that mantle!

I also am extremely excited to announce the publication of VA’s first-ever Diversity and Inclusion Annual Report for Fiscal Year (FY) 2009. This performance report is the companion document to VA’s first Diversity and Inclusion Strategic Plan for FY 2009-2013 issued in February 2009. The Annual Report presents the accomplishments, initiatives, and progress made VA-wide, including the Administrations, toward the achieving the goals and objectives contained in the Strategic Plan. It also presents a current snapshot of the various dimensions of diversity in the VA workforce. [Cont. on page 6.]

CELEBRATE!
Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage, Jewish Heritage, Older American, LGBT Pride, and Caribbean American Heritage Months

Each May, VA joins the Nation in celebrating Asian American and Pacific Islander Heritage Month. The national theme for the 2010 observance is “Diverse Leadership for a Diverse Workforce.”

Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders (AAPI) are a diverse group comprising people of many ethnicities, languages, religions, and cultures who have a shared history in the United States. They include Americans who are Chinese, Filipino, Japanese, Korean, Pacific Islander (e.g., Native Hawaiian, Guamanian, and Samoan), South Asian (e.g., Asian Indian, Afghan, Pakistani, and Sri Lankan), and Southeast Asian (e.g., Vietnamese, Lao, Hmong, Thai, Indonesian, Malaysian, and Singaporean).

As of March 2010, there were 20,841 AAPI and Native Hawaiian (AAPINH) VA employees, representing 6.98 percent of the total VA workforce. The government-wide percentage of AAPI employment stands at 5.2 percent. There are currently six AAPINH in VA’s Senior Executive Service. Throughout history, AAPINHs have defended liberty and freedom by serving honorably in the U.S. Armed Forces. The Department proudly employs 2,738 AAPINH Veterans. For more information about VA’s AAPI employment program, contact David Walton, VA’s National AAPI Program Manager, at (202) 461-4002 or <David.Walton@va.gov>. [Cont. on page 4.]
FAPAC Conference
In May of 2006 VA’s Assistant Secretary for Human Resources and Administration signed a Memorandum of Understanding with the Federal Asian Pacific American Council (FAPAC). FAPAC was founded in 1985 as a nonprofit nonpartisan organization representing civilian and military Asian American and Pacific Islander (AAPI) employees of the Federal and District of Columbia governments. The primary purpose of FAPAC is to serve as an interagency association within the Federal and District of Columbia Governments, providing a focus for over thirty ethnically distinct groups originating from Asian and Pacific regions as recognized by the U.S. Census Bureau.

FAPAC will hold its 25th Annual National Leadership Training Conference from May 3 to May 7, 2010, at the Gaylord National Resort and Convention Center located at 201 Waterfront Street, National Harbor, Maryland. The theme for this year’s conference is “Diverse Leadership for a Diverse Workforce.” This career development training, announced by the Office of Personnel Management: <www.fapac.org/conference/2010/OPM%20Letter%202010.pdf>, is designed not only for equal employment opportunity managers and special emphasis program staff, but for all AAPI employees. Detailed information and registration for the FAPAC Leadership Conference is available at <www.fapac.org>.

VA’s Office of Diversity and Inclusion is hosting a FREE preconference event on Monday, May 3, from 1:30 to 4:30 pm in Baltimore 2 room at the Gaylord. Register online at <https://vaww.trace.lrn.va.gov/registration/Default.asp?CourseID=4555>. All employees should obtain supervisory approval in order to attend the training. For more information, contact David Walton, VA’s National AAPI Program Manager, at (202) 461-4002 or <David.Walton@va.gov>.

Workforce Recruitment Program (WRP)
Have you considered hiring an intern for the summer? The Workforce Recruitment Program (WRP) is a recruitment and referral program that connects Federal and private sector employers with highly-motivated postsecondary students with disabilities who are eager to prove their abilities in the workplace through summer or permanent jobs. Students seeking summer internship appointments are usually available to work now through September 30. Most of these students qualify at the GS-3 through GS-9 levels, and their salary is paid by the employing agency. VA has established a goal for this summer of hiring 25 WRP interns across the Department. WRP is co-sponsored by the Department of Labor and the Department of Defense (DoD). DoD’s Computer Accommodation Program provides IT or related accommodations free of charge to organizations employing WRP interns. Interns are responsible for all transportation and housing expenses. For more information or for assistance in identifying the right candidate for your organization, contact David Walton, National EEO Manager, at (202) 461-4002 or <David.Walton@va.gov>.

Jewish American Heritage Month
VA proudly joins the Nation in celebrating Jewish American Heritage Month (JAHM) this May. On April 20, 2006, President George W. Bush first proclaimed May as JAHM. This year marks the fourth annual celebration of JAHM. This year’s theme, “The Centennial of the Kibbutz Movement,” recognizes the successes of Jewish Americans in forming their own individuality while upholding the American ideals of freedom, equality, religious liberty and pluralism. JAHM acknowledges the achievements and contributions of Jewish Americans in various professions, sports, arts, entertainment, medicine, government, and military service. During World War II, Jewish American Veterans received more than 52,000 awards, including the coveted Medal of Honor. Jewish Americans have participated in every major war and campaign and continue to serve in today's military and the conflicts in Iraq and Afghanistan. VA honors Jewish Americans during the month of May, as the Nation recognizes the strides Jewish American Veterans have made toward strengthening the fabric of our society.

Older American Heritage Month
VA joins the Nation in celebrating Older American Heritage Month, also this May. This year’s theme “Age Strong! Live Long!” recognizes the diversity and vitality of today’s older Americans and the many ways older citizens have enriched our Nation through their character, wisdom, and service to this country.

In May 1963, President John F. Kennedy proclaimed Senior Citizens Month and in 1980, the name was changed by President Jimmy Carter to “Older Americans Month” and has become a national observance. Last year, President Barack Obama stated, “Older Americans have carried our Nation through great challenges and triumphs. They have enriched our national character and strengthened the Republic for those who have followed.”

When Older Americans Month was established in 1963, only 17 million living Americans had reached their 65th birthdays and today, because of advances in medical care and education, there are over 38 million older Americans! The U.S. Census projections indicate that by 2016, 10.1 million people 65 and older will be in the workplace.

VA urges all staff to work collaboratively to strengthen the services our VA hospitals provide to older Veterans and employees, in ways that recognize the changing nature of their needs, and provide the older adults with more opportunities to make informed choices about their lives. Our efforts can improve the lives of older citizens and help pave the way for future generations. VA reaffirms our country’s commitment to older Americans during the month of May and throughout the year.

LGBT Pride Month
Forty one years ago, patrons of the Stonewall Inn in New York City resisted police harassment for members of the lesbian, gay, bisexual, and transgender (LGBT) community. It marked a milestone in gay unity for civil rights, earning national attention and gaining a foothold in the struggle for equality. During LGBT Pride Month, we commemorate these events of June 1969 and commit to achieving equal justice under law for LGBT Americans.

In recent years, VA has engaged in sustained efforts to implement policies aimed at creating a safe and productive workplace for LGBT employees. Estimates of the LGBT portion of the U.S. population range between 3 and 17 percent, with most estimates in the range of 7 to 10 percent. Applied to the VA workforce, that would represent 20-30,000 employees. Applied to our clients, an estimated 2.2 million Veterans would be LGBT.

The purpose of the LGBT observances is to shed light and celebrate the accomplishments and contributions of a diverse group of Americans who helped shape America—not to illicit attention for one group, while discounting another. Diverse employees who are not fully embraced into the culture at work, experience negative outcomes that affect productivity, retention, and professional relationships. To this end, VA’s ability to maintain the highest quality of care to our Veterans will rely heavily on its ability to recruit and retain the best and the brightest. That ability is enhanced when people perceive that equitable treatment, human dignity, and respect extend to all. The stories shared and lessons learned from those who exhibit the core values we strive to live by, make this observance relevant and serve as reminders of what is required to achieve mission success. For more information, contact Durodgio Peterson, National LGBT Program Manager, at (202) 461-4034.

Caribbean American Heritage Month
VA is proud to celebrate the culture and social diversity of Caribbean Americans. For centuries, Caribbean Americans have made their mark in every facet of society, from art to athletics and science, to service in the armed forces. Caribbean Americans of all walks of life have added to the vitality, success, and prosperity of our country. Let’s all commemorate this month and celebrate the common culture and bonds of friendship that unite the United States and the Caribbean countries by learning more about the history, culture, customs and traditions of Caribbean Americans.

POLICY ALERTS

Subject:Returning from Active Military Duty
Agencies are required to grant 5 work days of excused absence, without charge to leave, to employees who were activated for military service in connection with Operation Noble Eagle, Operation Enduring Freedom, Operation Iraqi Freedom, or any other military operation subsequently established in connection with the Global War on Terrorism (GWOT) upon notification to their employing agency of their intent to return to Federal civilian employment. This revision issues guidance on granting excused absence when multiple short-term activations apply. For more information about this policy alert or the policy communication schedule/timeline please go to: <http://vaww.va.gov/ohrm>.

Subject:Minimum (First) Area of Consideration under Competitive Merit Promotion Procedures
Revisions to Handbook 5005, dated August 12, 2005, have been determined to require updating. VA Handbook 5005, Part III, Chapter 3 is being revised to require title 38 and hybrid title 38 employees covered by VA/OPM Interchange Agreements to be considered in the minimum (first) area of consideration for positions announced at their facility. The change will be incorporated into the electronic version of VA Handbook 5005 once it has been approved.
Finally, it serves as a compendium of resources related to workforce diversity and inclusion. I encourage you all to review this report and use it as a benchmark for our continuing progress toward building a more diverse and inclusive workplace. ODI has a limited number of printed copies available; both documents are available on ODI’s Web site homepage at <www.diversity.hr.va.gov>! Also available on this site is the related VA’s FY 2009 EEO Program Status Report and FY 2010 EEO Plan which was submitted to the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Both of these documents are important reflections of the state of the agency with respect to equal employment opportunity and diversity.

ODI has indeed been busy producing several new groundbreaking products in the area of diversity and inclusion. Among these is ODI’s new Recruitment and Selection Best Practices Guide–Avoiding EEO Pitfalls to Create a Diverse Workforce. This Guide contains practical guidance and best practices in recruitment and selection to ensure VA is a fair, diverse and high performing organization. It focuses on eliminating barriers and conducting selection processes that are consistent with EEO principles. This document represents the invaluable contributions of many of our colleagues and stakeholders. For more information, see page 8.

Finally, I am pleased to share the VA Diversity Council Charter has been approved by Secretary Shinseki. A copy is available on the ODI Web site at <www.diversity.hr.va.gov/council/index.htm>. The VADC serves as an independent executive level body that provides advice and recommendations to the Secretary of Veterans Affairs on areas related to diversity and inclusion. The Council comprises executive level representatives from each of the Department’s major organizations and stakeholders who serve as a communications link between the workforce and leadership. The Council shares best practices, considers new initiatives, monitors progress, leverages resources, and ensures accountability in the area of organizational diversity and inclusion. As co-chair for the Council, I look forward to working with this team on some exciting initiatives in the future!

For the immediate future, I invite all to join in on VA’s special observances honoring Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders in May and Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Americans in June. ~Georgia Coffey

MILITARY CAREER FAIRS

Increasing Veterans Throughout VA’s Workforce

The list of military career fairs below is a comprehensive list of fairs throughout the Nation compiled by VA’s Veterans Employment Coordination Service (VECS). All facilities are encouraged to participate in events taking place in their respective geographic locations and support VA’s commitment to increase Veterans throughout our workforce and the President’s Veterans Employment Initiative. In the past, VA partnered with sponsors of several career fairs (i.e. RecruitMilitary.com and Military.com) through VBA (VR&E). Those relationships expired last fiscal year. VECS is currently negotiating a new contract to make it possible for VA facilities to attend certain national military career events at no cost to the local facility. VECS expects to have good news confirming our partnership in the near future. Until then, facilities are still encouraged to participate in events using local funds. VA currently has a partnership with Civilianjobs.com that allows for VA participation in their events at no cost. These events are highlighted:

USERRA
Updates to Mandated USERRA Training

VA aims to serve as a model employer of current and former military service members in accordance with the Uniformed Services Employment and Reemployment Rights Act (USERRA). Public Law 110-389 requires that Federal departments and agencies train their human resources personnel on the provisions of USERRA. As mandated, the Office of Personnel Management recently issued standardized USERRA training for Federal-wide implementation. To comply with the requirement, members of the targeted audience must complete the USERRA training once per fiscal year. The targeted audience includes human resources (HR) Specialists, HR Assistants, individuals with HR liaison responsibilities, supervisory/management staff, as well as those delegated to act on their behalf.

Through coordinated efforts with VA Learning Management System (LMS) administrators and VA Learning University (VALU) staff, this training will be available in LMS for this fiscal year from May 3 to July 31, 2010, and subsequently in similar designated periods annually thereafter. Targeted VA employees must complete this training in VA LMS during this time period. Official guidance with specific instructions for accessing and completing the training will be issued in the near future.

A USERRA training kit will be mailed to VA HR Officers in sufficient quantity for every HR Specialist and Assistant to receive one. The kit will consist of a fact sheet, a 24-page Employer Resource Guide, a service member outreach brochure, and a supervisory training DVD and brochure. This 20-minute training DVD can be incorporated into each facility’s regular supervisory training sessions. The DVD is a great learning tool consisting of three brief educational vignettes, which will provide VA managers and supervisors with a clear understanding of how to fulfill the requirements of USERRA to support those employees who serve our Nation in uniformed service.

The Department of Labor removed the USERRA Non-Technical Resource Guide from its Web site. It is now obsolete and as a result, you should not refer to it for USERRA guidance any longer. You should continue to use the following references for USERRA guidance:

ORM JOINS ODI FOR ON-SITE REVIEWS
Six Visits Scheduled This Fiscal Year

ODI, in conjunction with the Office of Resolution Management (ORM), Organizational Climate Assessment Program (OCAP), will partner in conducting and facilitating on-site OCAP and equal employment opportunity (EEO) compliance Technical Assistance Reviews (TARs). The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC), through Management Directive 715, requires Federal executive agencies to establish and maintain a system of accountability for affirmative programs of EEO which follows six essential elements of a model EEO program. TARs ensure the VA is proactively keeping, fulfilling, and meeting their EEO obligations. ORM offers OCAP to VA organizations with the primary goal of helping organizations measure workplace satisfaction, morale, employee-supervisor relations, conflict management, training, and other work-related areas.

Six TAR/OCAP on-site reviews will occur at VA facilities during this fiscal year, in order to assess the effectiveness and efficiency of VA EEO programs to ensure the VA is fully identifying, eliminating, and removing any barrier to equality of opportunities in the workplace.

This joint review initiative between ODI & ORM demonstrates a strong approach to leadership, commitment, alignment, and teamwork with both offices. Also, the leverage of human capital in meeting customer satisfaction, avoiding duplication and eliminating parallel review processes. The goal and outcome of reviews are to develop a stakeholder-supportive, collaborative, and cooperative relationship with ODI/ORM and ensure regulatory compliance.

For more information, contact Keith Kirkpatrick at <Keith.Kirkpatrick@va.gov>.
RECRUITMENT AND SELECTION GUIDE
Best Practices and Tools

ODI is proud to present the Recruitment and Selection Best Practices Guide: Avoiding Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Pitfalls to Create a Diverse Workforce. The guide was developed with the assistance of key stakeholders and is designed to provide hiring officials, managers and supervisors with best practices and recommendations for conducting effective and efficient recruitments and selections to ensure that VA is a diverse and high-performing organization in the 21st Century. The guide provides practical tips, checklists, resources material, and other information. It also identifies common pitfalls and recommended strategies for avoiding mistakes to ensure EEO compliance in VA hiring practices, in order to recruit, select and retain a diverse, talented, and inclusive workforce.

This guide serves as a valuable resource to assist hiring officials in eliminating barriers to equal opportunity in the hiring process and can help VA become the 21st Century Federal employer of choice. If you have any questions about this best practices guide, contact Tinisha Agramonte, Director of Outreach and Retention, at (202) 461-4030 or <Tinisha.Agramonte@va.gov>.

OFFICE OF HUMAN RESOURCES MANAGEMENT (OHRM) BULLETIN
OPM Registers

The Office of Personnel Management (OPM) has posted job opportunity announcements under competitive examining procedures to establish 14 centralized registers, covering common occupations with high hiring volume across the Federal Government. These registers incorporate:

- Streamlined job opportunity announcements (JOAs)
- Category rating procedures—a wider range of candidates from which to select
- Online, unproctored assessment tools
- OPM maintenance—includes referring high quality candidates, responding to applicant inquiries, removing unavailable candidates, etc. Notification to applicants will be sent at all four applicant communication touch points.
- Referral of names from these registers at no cost to agencies.

The registers cover 15 occupations and are located at 44 duty locations throughout the USA. VA human resource offices (HROs) may participate in using the OPM registers; however, HROs must make sure they meet all of OPM’s requirements before requesting a certificate from OPM. OHRM has developed and published a delegated examining category rating procedures policy that may be used by a VA DEU when administering the competitive examining process. To participate in using an OPM certificate from the established central register, HROs must meet the additional requirements:

- Verify through established job analysis for the position filling that the critical competencies being assessed by the central register assessment questionnaire are appropriate for their position(s). Competencies are identified in Section VI of the attachment. VA HROs are responsible for maintaining the job analysis documentation including this Guidance Document as part of their case files;
- Ensure that separate, duplicative agency examining (merit promotion or a VA DEU) is not conducted for the same position, grade, and location if a referral is requested from the central register;
- Submit the request form from the guidance document “OPM Registers Agency Guidance” to request a certificate of eligibles from an OPM central register;
- Return the certificate(s) in thirty calendar days (30) in order for OPM to timely audit certificates; and
- Follow all competitive legal and regulatory requirements.

For detailed instructions on the requirements for participation in using the registers, points-of-contact for a register for a specific occupation, competencies assessed for a specific occupation, frequently asked questions, or the form to request a certificate more information, contact Debbie Kolen, Recruitment and Placement Policy Service, at (202) 461-7957.

RECRUITMENT AND SELECTION GUIDE
Best Practices and Tools

ODI is proud to present the Recruitment and Selection Best Practices Guide: Avoiding Equal Employment Opportunity (EEO) Pitfalls to Create a Diverse Workforce. The guide was developed with the assistance of key stakeholders and is designed to provide hiring officials, managers and supervisors with best practices and recommendations for conducting effective and efficient recruitments and selections to ensure that VA is a diverse and high-performing organization in the 21st Century. An active role in targeting recruitment is necessary in order to succeed in broadening the workforce profile. The Office of Construction and Facilities Management (CFM) takes a lead role in targeting Veterans, minorities, and women in its recruitment endeavors by using multiple medias to reach potential candidates. Applicants are able to contact a member of the CFM recruitment staff to ask questions, submit résumés, and show their individual interest through CFM’s Careers email address listed on CFM’s modernized Web site: <www.cfm.va.gov>.

Targeted recruitment of student interns or summer students through diversity programs is an excellent way to increase diversity as well as promote a positive image on university campuses. CFM hired three students through a Federal program aimed to promote Federal service sponsored by George Washington University. The University subsidized 72 percent of the students’ salaries for the year and two of the three students will continue to work as students under the Student Temporary Employment Program (STEP) through the summer and next school year. CFM also used multiple diversity organizations, such as the Hispanic Association of Colleges and Universities (HACU), the Organization of Chinese Americans (OCA), The Washington Center (TWC), and Washington Internships for Native Students (WINS) to fill the short-term summer student positions. When these students return to school, they will help promote a positive image of Federal service on their respective campuses.

Print advertisements and career fairs are another way CFM reaches minority and diverse populations. The Diversity Career magazine is a key promoter of diversity careers. CFM and Information Technology (IT) partnered to feature a careers ad in the special issue targeting careers in engineering and IT. At the same time, CFM also chose a Hispanic engineer to write a personal article about his VA career to provide awareness of VA’s construction program and highlight CFM’s challenging mission and active job opportunities. CFM also attended seven separate college recruitment job fairs this fiscal year targeting schools with both high diversity and academic rankings to enhance visibility and target minority recruitment goals.

CFM’s personal commitment is the underlying success factor in achieving strides in identifying and placing top talent throughout the organization. CFM will remain active with a heavy a recruitment endeavor underway. CFM intends to lead VA with a current outstanding record of 42 percent of all hires being Veterans, 36 percent women, and 85 percent targeted minorities groups. Partnering with professional and minority organizations and with educating outreach staff members is another way to ensure you have all the help you need in getting the best. Mr. W contacted an EEO counselor on April 10, 2007, and he was interviewed on April 12, 2007. The counselor then interviewed Mr. W’s supervisor, Ms. K, on April 20, 2007. Twelve days later, Ms. K confronted complainant about three unspecified patient complaints against him that occurred in the proceeding five months, which was later changed by Ms. K to a few months and then to a few weeks.

An EEOC administrative judge found the VA engaged in reprisal against Mr. W. The judge determined that Ms. K’s testimony lacked credibility because she was unable to provide specific details about the three alleged patient complaints. The judge further found that Ms. K’s testimony was not believable because it was not consistent with her earlier statements as to the time period during which she received the complaints about Mr. K.

The EEOC AJ awarded Mr. W $10,000 in compensatory damages for the emotional distress he suffered. Mr. W was also awarded attorney’s fees and costs.

DID YOU KNOW that by statute, 38 U.S.C. 319(c), the OEDCA Director must report to the VA Secretary or Deputy Secretary any case where a VA employee has been retaliated against because he or she asserted rights under an equal employment opportunity law? OEDCA also reports directly to the VA Secretary or Deputy Secretary any case involving a finding of INTENTIONAL discrimination.
